Press Release

Kaynes Technology Accelerates AR/AI Wearables Leadership by absorbing the core team from Mustard Smartglasses Team

Kaynes Technology India Limited today announced the successful integration of the core team behind Mustard Smartglasses, a pioneering force in AI-powered, waveguide-based smart wearable technology. This strategic move marks a significant leap in Kaynes' ambition to lead in advanced design and emerging technology for consumer and enterprise markets through strong ODM/OEM partnerships.

Integration of Mustard Smartglasses Team – Boosting Next-Gen Design & Innovation

By welcoming Mustard's elite minds and product visionaries, Kaynes gains industry-leading expertise in the design of lightweight, AI-powered, developer-friendly wearables. Mustard's smart glasses platform seamlessly integrates AI audio, camera systems, and advanced waveguide optics, empowering both real-time AR overlays and intuitive, always-on interfaces.

This integration enables Kaynes to strengthen its role as a leading ODM/OEM partner, designing and manufacturing next-generation AR/VR smart glasses platforms for global brands. Leveraging open SDKs for third-party innovation, Kaynes will support a wide spectrum of use cases from real-time translation and enhanced accessibility for consumers to AI-driven remote inspection and SOP monitoring for enterprises.

Significance of the Integration

The addition of Mustard's core innovations, including deep experience with Digi-lens waveguide optics, further strengthens Kaynes' ongoing investments in advanced manufacturing and technology platforms. It also reinforces Kaynes' commitment to an open, developer-centric ecosystem creating headroom for India and global brands to launch AI-driven, AR-first products at scale.

Kaynes Technology India Limited continues to focus on driving innovation, reliability, and global competitiveness in India's electronics and semiconductor manufacturing landscape, building next-generation capabilities to address surging demand across consumer, industrial and enterprise verticals.
